Dear Members and Guests,

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to the 87th Annual Meeting of the Society for Military History in beautiful Norfolk, Virginia, home of the world's largest naval station and a certain World War II battleship as majestic as her namesake. Organizing these conferences is never easy, but it's doubtful that the task has ever been more challenging. Yet, thanks to the uncommon labors of a conference staff led by trustee Bryon Greenwald, what seemed improbable only a few months ago is an accomplished feat today. Never before has the Society offered virtual and in-person attendance for the same conference. For making that possible and much more, I want to thank the National Defense University and our hometown hosts, the Joint Forces Staff College, for the enormous amount of work that went into coordinating this year's event.

The COVID pandemic has changed life for all of us, bringing into focus the things that matter most. The cancelation of last year's conference in Arlington, Virginia, was regrettable, but the safety of our members was—and remains—of paramount importance to the SMH Council. I would be remiss, however, to not take this opportunity to thank the Army Historical Foundation and Matt Seelinger for their effort in preparing what promised to be a truly outstanding conference. Fortunately, the SMH hopes to return to Northern Virginia in the relatively near future.

As a former resident of Hampton Roads, however, I can assure you that Southern Virginia is no less charming—least of all when we gather in the company of colleagues who we have not seen in two years. The Program Committee, chaired by Jonathan Winkler, has put together a terrific schedule, with 85 panels across two and a half days. Fitting with the complexity of our time, the majority of these panels are mixed or hybrid in delivery, with some panelists presenting in-person and others doing so virtually. It is also our first time in Norfolk, a city that abounds with historical significance, cultural heritage, and culinary elegance. For those attending in-person, I hope you find time to get out and enjoy all the local area has to offer. Oh, and do check out that battleship.

Sincerely,

John W. Hall
President, Society for Military History

Dear Conference Delegates,

On behalf of the National Defense University and the Joint Forces Staff College (JFSC). I welcome you to Norfolk and the 87th Meeting of the Society for Military History.

As the JFSC Commandant, I am particularly proud to host the Society. I believe the study of military history is a force multiplier that provides a critical advantage to our Joint Force. Military history is an important part of the curricula in the Joint Advanced Warfighting School and the Joint and Combined Warfighting School. Your publications, conference presentations, and classroom discussions provide our service members invaluable and unique learning opportunities that will better prepare them to deal with present and future challenges.

I sincerely hope you enjoy your stay in Norfolk. Please take the opportunity to participate in one of the three available staff rides and learn about the rich military history of the Tidewater region. While here I hope you also gain a better understanding of the Joint Forces Staff College and its place in the National Defense University constellation of Professional Military Education institutions. Though less well known than other military schools, the Joint Forces Staff College is the largest producer of level II, jointly educated field grade officers (U.S. and international) within the Defense Department. Please take time while here to engage with the many JFSC faculty and students attending (and presenting) at the conference and learn more about us.

I want to thank the National Defense University and the National Defense University Foundation for supporting this opportunity. I also want to thank my faculty and staff, particularly CAPT Frank Castellano (USN), Col Jody Owens (USAF), and Professor Bryon Greenwald, for making the Society's first-ever live and virtual conference happen under challenging circumstances.

Sincerely,

W. H. SEELY III
Major General, USMC
35th Commandant

Fellow Military Historians,

We made it! We made it through perhaps the worst year of our collective lives to meet in-person and virtually in pursuit of our common profession and our abiding passion. We are excited to welcome you to Virginia's Tidewater area and the City of Norfolk, and introduce you to the faculty and staff of the "little college that could"—indeed, the little college that dared to believe it could coordinate such an enormous event in the middle of a thankfully waning global pandemic.

We realize that getting here is only part of the battle and we must finish the job—fight through to the back of the objective. Thus, as you engage with colleagues and enjoy all that the Hilton Main, downtown Norfolk, and the Tidewater area has to offer, you may see the conference staff scurrying around like mice at the ball trying to make everything come together. By "everything," I mean:

- Hosting the first-ever live and virtual SMH conference across 3 days and 10 panel venues
- Maintaining Virginia-mandated and smart guidance about indoor/outdoor gatherings, mitigate any lingering COVID threat, and make attendees comfortable engaging with colleagues and enjoying the conference, and
- Premiering two films, "Surrender on the USS Missouri" and "Omaha Beach," the latter an immersive Virtual Reality experience.

None of this would have been possible without the support of many and the extremely hard work of a dedicated few. Thus, it is appropriate that I acknowledge a few organizations and individuals.

Thank you to the National Defense University and its President, Lt Gen Mike Plehn (USAF), for permission to host one of the largest and most complex conferences in NDU's history; to the Joint Forces Staff College Commandant, MajGen Bill Seely (USMC), for his enthusiastic support; to the NDU Foundation and its President and CEO, James Schmeling, for backing our efforts from the beginning, serving as our "banker," and reinforcing us financially; to Cerner Government Services and Danielle Applegate for their financial support; to the WWII Foundation, its founder, Tim Gray, and CEO, MajGen (Ret) Drew Davis, for allowing us to premier their films; to the MacArthur Memorial for use of their excellent facility; to Wayne Callis and Catherine Williamson of VisitNorfolk.com for their continuous assistance and the nifty reusable bags; and to the Hilton Main and Melanie Bowman for their fantastic support throughout the planning and execution of the conference.

I also want to thank Dr. Jonathan Winkler and the program committee for working the issues and selecting an outstanding slate of panels and papers. Jonathan's professionalism throughout has been an inspiration. Similarly, many thanks to Dr. Kurt Hackemer for enduring frequent website updates, to Matt Seelinger of the Army Historical Foundation for sharing his experience, and to Dr. Maysan Haydar for shouldering much of the virtual conference arrangements.

This event required the dedicated efforts of many at JFSC, including CAPT Frank Castellano (USN), Col Jody Owens (USAF), Ph.D., Dr. Anthony Feagin, Dr. Glenn Jones, Dr. Fred Kienle, Dr. Pat Hannum, Col (Ret) Jon Stull (USMC), Tom Falconer, Jen Laski, Sarah Ezell, Jalen Powell, Eric Hatcher, and Luis Pratts.

Finally, I want to thank the leadership of SMH President John Hall and Vice President Pete Mansoor for their advice and support throughout and especially acknowledge the efforts of my battle buddy, our Executive Director, C.C. Felker, in guiding the process from the start in 2017/18 to its conclusion here in Norfolk.

Sincerely,

Bryon Greenwald, Ph.D
2021 SMH Annual Meeting Coordinator

National Defense University Foundation

Under the direction of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the National Defense University (NDU) is the nation's premier institution for senior leadership development and national security preparedness. As the philanthropic component of the National Defense University, the NDU Foundation partners with corporations, other foundations, private industry, and individuals on vital initiatives that the University would not be able to pursue independently.

The NDU Foundation brings together world-renowned experts, diverse vantage points, cutting-edge learning experiences, and key industry leaders to ensure our country's collective and international security through programmatic initiatives and partnership with the National Defense University.

THE MacARTHUR MEMORIAL

Norfolk Virginia

The MacArthur Memorial is a museum and research center dedicated to preserving and presenting the story of the life of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. The Memorial also pays tribute to the millions of men and women who served with General MacArthur in World War I, World War II, and the Korean War.

Situated in downtown Norfolk, VA the Memorial consists of a museum, archive and research center, education center, theater, welcome center, and a gift shop. A visit to the Memorial will allow you to explore the life of one of America's greatest and most complex leaders. Admission is FREE.

Odds and Ends

If you are a World War I scholar or a student of Douglas MacArthur and would like to participate in the MacArthur Memorial WWI Podcast or the MacArthur History Podcast, please open this link and fill it out. Amanda Williams will do her best to schedule you to participate while you are in Norfolk.

PAUL KENNEDY

Paul Kennedy, the J. Richardson Dilworth Professor of History, Director of International Security Studies at Yale, and Distinguished Fellow of the Brady-Johnson Program in Grand Strategy, coordinates the ISS programs funded by the Smith Richardson Foundation. He is internationally known for his writings and commentaries on global political, economic, and strategic issues.

Born in June 1945 in the northern English town of Wallsend, Northumberland, he obtained his BA at Newcastle University and his DPhil at the University of Oxford. He is a former Fellow of the Institute for Advanced Studies, Princeton University, and of the Alexander von Humboldt-Stiftung, Bonn. He holds many honorary degrees, and is a Fellow of the Royal Historical Society, the American Philosophical Society, and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He was made Commander of the Order of the British Empire (C.B.E.) in 2000 for services to History and elected a Fellow of the British Academy in June 2003.

Prof. Kennedy's monthly column on current global issues is distributed worldwide by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate/Tribune Media Services. He is the author or editor of nineteen books, including The Rise of the Anglo-German Antagonism, The War Plans of the Great Powers, The Realities Behind Diplomacy, and Preparing for the Twenty-First Century. His best-known work is The Rise and Fall of the Great Powers, which provoked an intense debate on its publication in 1988 and has been translated into over twenty languages.

In 1991, he edited a collection entitled Grand Strategies in War and Peace. He helped draft the Ford Foundation-sponsored report issued in 1995, "The United Nations in Its Second Half-Century," which was prepared for the fiftieth anniversary of the UN. His 2006 book The Parliament of Men contemplates the past and future of the United Nations. Prof. Kennedy's most recent book Engineers of Victory, history through the eyes of problem-solvers during the Second World War, was published in 2013. He is currently writing a book about seapower and global transformations during World War Two.

Strategic innovation in health care for today and tomorrow.

For 40 years, Cerner has worked at the intersection of health care and information technology to connect people and systems around the world. We use the latest technology to create solutions that let communities and people engage in their own health. Whether they are supporting the clinical, financial or operational areas of a hospital or health system, our tools are designed to work for today and think for tomorrow.

We support our clients by surfacing data that enables them to make informed decisions for better management of operations, while arming their clinicians with the information they need to provide smarter care. Empowering them to know, manage and engage with the people they serve. All to disrupt the industry and transform the way health care is delivered.

It's our mission to relentlessly seek breakthrough innovation that will shape health care of tomorrow. And we believe that what we do doesn't just impact health care – it impacts the world. It's why, more than ever, health care is too important to stay the same.

Cerner Government Services is leading the transformation of the electronic health record system across the DoD and VA that will provide one longitudinal, interoperable health record for each military active-duty personnel and Veteran. This revolutionary effort will enable VA, DoD, the US Coast Guard, and community providers to access the right data, at the right place, at the right time to deliver better, more informed care.

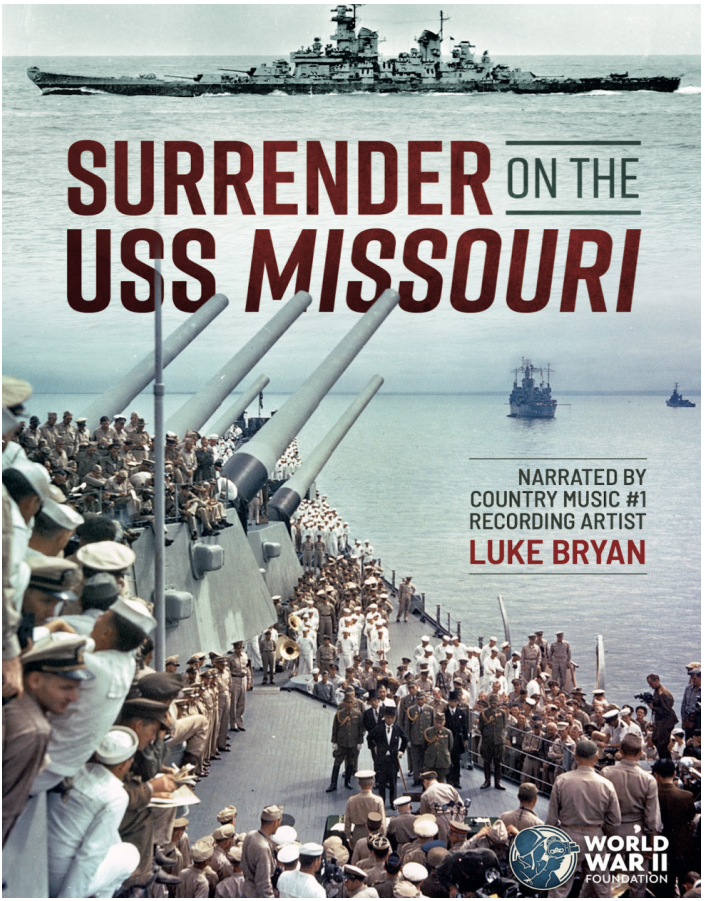

Even during this uncertain time, while our partners have been intently focused on combatting the COVID-19 pandemic, our work has continued, and we have achieved critical milestones keeping us on track. When the EHR deployments are complete, each Service member, Veteran and family member beneficiary will be positioned for a lifetime of seamless care.

Joint Forces Staff College

"...this is the only college in the school system where the basic mission will be to give instruction on the theater and major joint task force level..."

General Dwight D. Eisenhower
(in a memorandum to Admiral Chester W. Nimitz), 12 June 1946

Reflecting on their experiences in World War II, Army Chief of Staff, General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower and Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Chief of Naval Operations noted the role joint operations played in Allied success and realized that the United States needed a school to teach joint principles to military officers serving in joint duty. On Aug. 13, 1946, at the site of a former World War II Naval Receiving Station in Norfolk, Virginia, they established the Armed Forces Staff College (AFSC). The site's immediate availability and location near Army, Navy, and Air Force installations and proximity to Washington, D.C. all played a part in its selection. In 1981, the National Defense University incorporated AFSC into its constellation of military education institutions. In 2000, the College changed its name to the Joint Forces Staff College (JFSC) to reflect the realities of joint warfare.

The JFSC commandant is a two-star general or flag officer nominated from the military Services. The Commandant achieves the college's mission, "to educate national security professionals to plan and execute operational-level joint, multinational, and interagency operations and instill a primary commitment to teamwork, attitudes, and diverse perspectives" across three subordinate schools: The Joint Advanced Warfighting School (JAWS), The Joint and Combined Warfighting School (JCWS), and the Joint Command, Control, and Information Operations School (JC2IOS).

Joint Advanced Warfighting School

Established in 2004, JAWS is a key component of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff's vision for enhancing joint warfighting at the operational level.. An extremely rigorous, 11-month senior-service war college, JAWS produces graduates who can create campaign-quality concepts, plan for the employment of all elements of national power, accelerate transformation, and succeed as joint force operational/strategic planners. JAWS graduates serve mandatory duty in planning-related positions on the Joint Staff and at combatant commands after graduation. JAWS educates its students (O-5/O-6) in a small group/seminar format to maximize their creativity, ability to conceptualize, cognitive adaptability, and innovativeness. Besides meeting senior-service school requirements, JAWS fulfills the Joint Professional Military Education (JPME) Phase II program requirements and awards a Master of Science degree in Joint Campaign Planning and Strategy.

Joint and Combined Warfighting School

JCWS prepares select field-grade (O-4 - O-6) officers and interagency professionals for joint and combined staff duty. JCWS offers three different program modalities for delivering JPME Phase II to students. The ten-week JCWS-Resident program primarily educates active component officers and focuses on the integrated joint and combined operational deployment, employment, and sustainment of air, land, sea, space, cyber, and special operations forces. Delivered at four different combatant command locations each year, the JCWS-Satellite program mirrors the JCWS-Resident program in length of instruction and content. The JCWS-Hybrid program prepares a selective group of Reserve and National Guard officers for duty on joint, multinational, or interagency staffs. The program spans forty weeks—thirty-seven weeks of synchronous and asynchronous distance learning and three weeks of in-resident instruction at JFSC.

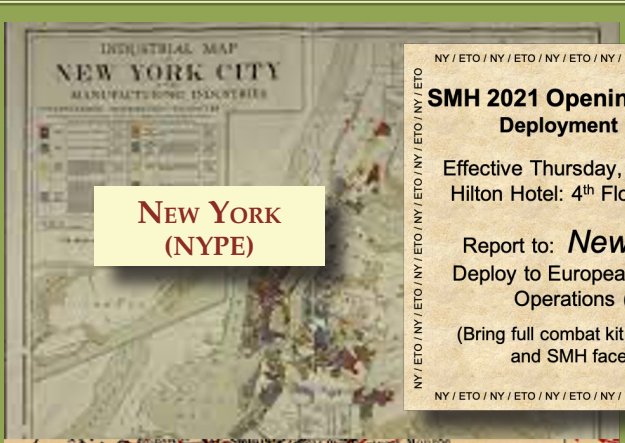

Joint Command, Control, and Information Operations School

The JC2IOS develops select officers and civilians for joint and combined duties in the fields of Command, Control, Communications, Computers and Intelligence, and Information Operations. The school consists of the Joint Command, Control, Communications, Computers, and Intelligence/Cyber Staff Operations Course (JC4ICSOC), the Joint Information Operations Orientation Course (JIOOC), the Joint Information Operations Planning Course (JIOPC), the Defense MILDEC Training Course (DMTC), and the Defense OPSEC Planners Course (DOPC).

The First Washington Conference, codenamed Arcadia, was a secret meeting held in the days immediately following the entrance of the United States into World War II. It was the first meeting between the United States and Britain to determine military strategy. Historian and retired Brigadier General John F. Shortal skillfully unravels the inside story of this pivotal meeting. He shows how the working and personal relationships between Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill first took root and then blossomed during the conference. Code Name Arcadia makes a major contribution to the history of WWII and to our understanding of the power structure of the postwar world.

320 pp. 26 b&w photos. Bib. Index. $45.00 hardcover

Political rhetoric scholar David Zarefsky examines the three key announcements in President Lyndon Baines Johnson's March 31, 1968 address to the nation. Zarefsky traces the development of the speech through eleven drafts, reflecting disagreements and doubts among the writers and advisers. In turn, he sets these efforts in the larger context of the Cold War and the impact of the Tet offensive. Drawing on archival sources and reflecting rhetorical insights, this book illuminates one of the most consequential speeches of the 1960s. Even though the fighting in Vietnam would continue for several more years, the course of America's conduct in Vietnam was changed permanently by this speech.

88th Annual Meeting of the Society for Military History

April 28-May 1, 2022

Fort Worth, Texas

Coordinated by the Cypress Planning Group

The Society for Military History is pleased to announce a call for papers for its 88th Annual Meeting, coordinated by the Cypress Planning Group in Fort Worth, Texas.

For the 2022 meeting, the Program Committee will consider paper and panel proposals on all aspects of military history. Submissions of pre-organized panels and roundtables are strongly encouraged and will be given preference in the selection process. Panel and paper proposals will clearly explain their topics and questions in ways that will be understandable to the broad membership of the SMH, not only to those interested in the specific topics in question. Additionally, the SMH encourages the representation fo the full diversity of its membership and especially values panel and roundtable proposals that reflect the organization's diversity of institutional affiliations, various career paths and ranks, gender, race, and ethnicity.

Panel proposals must include a panel title and 300-word abstract summarizing the theme of the panel; paper title and a 300-word abstract for each paper proposed; and a one-page curriculum vitae for each panelist (including the chair and commentator) that includes institutional affiliation, email address, and other contact information (including the moderator, if any).

Roundtable proposals must include a roundtable title, the full name and institutional affiliation of each participant, a 300-word abstract summarizing the roundtable's themes and points of discussion, and a one-page curriculum vitae for each participant.

Individual paper proposals are also welcome and must include a 300-word abstract of the paper, and a one-page vita with contact information and email address. If accepted, individual papers will be assigned by the program committee to an appropriate panel with a chair and commentator. Those who volunteer to serve as chairs and commentators should send a one-page curriculum vitae to the program committee chair.

Proposals will be judged according to the following criteria:

- Proposal explains the topic, research questions, methodologies, and historiographic significance in ways that specialists and non-specialists alike can understand (10 points)
- Proposal presents new findings or revisions of long-held interpretations. (10 points
- Proposal addresses the conference theme. (5 points)
- Proposal reflects the SMH's diversity of institutional affiliations, various career paths and ranks, gender, race, and ethnicity. (Does not apply to individual submissions)

Participants may present one pager, serve on a roundtable, or provide panel comments. They may not fill more than one of these roles during the conference, nor should they propose to do so to the Program Committee. Members who act as panel chairs for only one session may deliver a paper, serve on a roundtable, or offer comments in a different session. Members who serve as both the chair and commentator of a single session may not present in another session unless they do so at the invitation of the SMH leadership.

All submissions must be made through the 2022 SMH Submission Portal at www.smh-hq.org/2022submissions.html. One person will need to gather all required information for panel and roundtable submissions and enter the information in the portal. Individual paper submissions can be made by the individual. For questions about the submission process, contact smh2022@cypressplanninggroup.org.

All proposals must be submitted by October 1, 2021. All accepted presenters, chairs, and commentators must be members of the Society for Military History by December 31, 2021, to be placed on the conference program.

A Young Scholars call for papers (for BA and MA students) will be circulated at a later date.

See you at next year's meeting!

In Memory

Departed Friends and Colleagues

Sir Michael Howard

Dennis Showalter

Bruce Vandervort

Geoff Megargee

Peter Paret

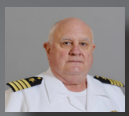

Ed Bearss

Edward “Mac” Coffman

Blair Turner

The past 18 months have witnessed the unrelated passing of some of the mostly beloved and respected scholars working in our field.

In 2019, the peerless Sir Michael Howard passed and was succeeded in short order by past SMH president Dennis Showalter and Bruce Vandervort, the longtime editor of our Journal of Military History. August 2020 brought the sad news that Geoff Megargee succumbed to the illness that compelled him to retire from the SMH Council only last year. Then this past September we lost in less than a week the great Clausewitz scholar Peter Paret, the prolific Civil War historian and longtime chief historian of the National Park Service Ed Bearss and another past SMH president, Edward “Mac” Coffman. Most recently, shortly after retiring following 38 years of service to the Virginia Military Institute History Department, Captain Blair Turner passed in April.

The Society honors the memory of these departed members
